Beneath the Spire...

ABOVE AND BEYOND

By the time you read this, you'll either notice a few changes around the church or will notice them soon. They are awesome changes – but what's more awesome is how the changes came about.

First, our Sanctuary will soon appear brighter to you. That's because we are replacing every one of the chandelier light bulbs, spot lights, and cove lights. A number of them, as you've probably noticed, have been burned out for a while. So it is good to replace them. It's even better to replace them with energy-efficient LED bulbs that will last longer and use less electricity.

Second, we will soon have a new Fellowship Hall floor. If you've been in there recently you've noticed that many of the tiles were coming unglued. Not only was this unsightly, but unsafe. No more – a new laminate wood floor is being installed that'll look fantastic and be more durable for the heavy use our Fellowship Hall is getting these days.

There will be a middle railing installed for the stairs from the Cloister to the Sanctuary. Over the years we've had some older members encounter difficulty going up and down holding onto just one railing. This middle railing will make it easier for folks to get to worship – something we certainly want to make easy to do!

And last year, we were able to fix the Parlor doors leading out to the courtyard area so they could be used as originally intended, while alleviating leakage problems on rainy days.

All of these are awesome changes, but here's the real awesome part: the church did not pay for these repairs out of our operating budget – not a single cent. In each case, someone approached me and offered to pay for it above and beyond their normal giving.

I love this. And not just because someone else paid for it. I love this because someone did two things: first, they noticed something in our church that could be improved upon. Sometimes we get so used to seeing something the way it is that we just forget about it. These folks, though, took notice.

And second, rather than simply ignoring it or complaining about it, they took it upon themselves to talk to me and the Buildings & Grounds Ministry Team and offered to be part of the solution. They made the decision to contribute funds above and beyond what they've already pledged to our operating budget and capital campaign.

The Sanctuary lights, Cloister step railing and Parlor door donors have asked to remain anonymous, and I will honor that. I do want to share that the new Fellowship Hall floor was provided by the Weekday School, who chose to use a portion of their end-of-year surplus for that purpose. To me, this is an amazing gesture from one of our most treasured partners in ministry. I've expressed to Stephanie Palmer, our Weekday School Director, how tremendously grateful I am for what they've done, and I hope you'll do the same.

While "the church" will always belong to Jesus Christ, this particular church in a sense is yours, the members. Pastors and staff come and go, but you are here for the long haul. You are its leaders. You are the ones who do everything from keeping the lights on to keeping its mission intact.

Which is why one of my joys as pastor is when people like these three donors and the Weekday School take the initiative to come talk with me about some way they'd like to help – a way that serves not just their own needs but the needs and mission of the larger church. This allows for important things to be addressed without taxing our already tight operating budget, as well as giving a church member an opportunity to feel good about making a difference for not just themselves but everyone else.

If you ever want to make a special gift to the church – to fix a facility need, to grow our endowment through legacy giving or something else, come talk to me. We'll sit down with the corresponding staff person or ministry team chair to make sure your generosity aligns with the overall church's vision. And then we'll rejoice in your joy of doing something special for the church you love.

Not everyone can step up like this, I know. Still, we all can join in gratitude and thanks to God for those who can and do. And in everything we do in our faith and in the life of God's church, may we always strive to go "above and beyond!"

Your pastor and friend,

IMPACT STORY - Goldie Stribling

Congregation members share an “Impact Story” during the worship service at least monthly. Please find below Goldie Stribling’s story shared October 18, 2015.

As I approach ninety, I realize this might be the last time they ask me to do this—whatever “this” is.

When Bruce and I were married in 1951 and moved to Charlotte, we heard about a church meeting at Queens College and decided that would become our new church home. It was really out of our comfort zone—but a brand new, just starting place where we could worship, study, serve and maybe contribute. Finding this new “comfort zone” reminded me of one of my very special days at Billingsville Elementary. A lovely young lady named Armagon Zojaji joined our Kindergarten class from some far away country in the Middle East. I held her in my lap and explained that she might not understand the words we said but she soon would. At lunch that day my boys and girls put their trays away and sat on the low windowsill to wait until we were all finished. The young man who sat right beside our new young friend came over to me, pulled my sleeve and said, “guess what teacher—she laughs in the same language we do.” That helped all of our comfort zones.

After Trinity moved into our new facilities on Providence Road, a large seminary sent visitors looking for a church in which to place one of their student interns. They sent a letter the next week saying they chose Trinity because it seemed to them a church “going into the future with banners unfurled.” He came and we did.

Somewhere along our way, a minister shared his belief that our giving should be directly related to what we had been given or had received in this life. That was a new way of looking at things that seemed to make a lot of sense to us. If we had received, then we freely give.

As years passed, we read many books by Frederick Buechner. His books spoke to us and we invited him to go to Montreat with us. He very graciously told us that he thought he could best serve from his mountaintop in Vermont. We respected that, but having read his unusual novel about a most unusual preacher, Leo Bebb, and his old friend, Herman Redpath, an old Native American man on his way to the Happy Hunting Ground—definitely out of his comfort zone—my friend Betty McLaney and I retreated to our workshop. Our idea was to make for our Vermont friend a replica of the good luck pouch carried by Redpath to make safe his trip. There had been in the recent Christian Century magazine a small ad announcing the meeting in Bangor, Maine of the Presbyterian Synod the last week in January with Frederick Buechner as the speaker. The perfect place to deliver the pouch to insure the safe travel of Mr. B. So, to duplicate it we located the small box of Sun Maid Raisins, the ten play money dollar bills, the Native American necklace, Betty’s Dad’s jack knife and the bird’s wing that we had reconstructed from the playground at Billingsville. We put the wing in the bag, put the bag in Dr. Patrick’s hands, got him to the plane after church on Sunday and waited. In Bangor, he attended the meeting, saw Mr. B in a room before his talk, tossed the bag into the chair beside him without a word, and the rest is history.

That fall in Montreat when Mr. B told this story, he said he knew that one way or another he would find his way to this group of people who were willing to do such wild and wonderful things.

Being part of Trinity has given me all sorts of glorious challenges, and, therefore, it has been my privilege to give with joy my time, my worldly goods, and my life.

So, watch for a quotation that appears regularly in the Narthex and has for many years. It will say: “My question is this: are there in us, in you and me now, that recklessness of the loving heart, that wild courage, that shuddering faithfulness even unto the end of the world through which new things could come to pass?” – Frederick Buechner

Could it possibly be that some good can come from that infamous comfort zone? Just maybe that’s where we’ll find the flickering light of NEW THINGS.

Once again this summer, Trinity will send a group of senior high students to the wildly popular Montreat Youth Conference in Montreat. The youth who've been can speak to all the reasons they do NOT want to miss this conference and make a point to carve out the time each summer to be a part of this country-wide gathering where young people actually CAN'T WAIT to get into worship services! The conference cost for each attendee is $350 for the week which includes transportation to and from Montreat, conference fee, housing and all meals. The conference is for rising 10th graders through graduating seniors.

Grace Lindvall will accompany the group this summer as the Back Home Leader. Deadline for securing a space in the conference is Thursday, March 31. Please submit your deposit of $100 per attendee to the Trinity Financial Office. The remaining balance of $250 will be due by May 15. Youth Silent Auction & BBQ Luncheon

Mark your calendars; it's that time of year again! On March 6, after worship, we will enjoy excellent BBQ cooked by Matt Smith and his crew. The luncheon is free, though donations are welcome and appreciated. BBQ by the pound will also be available for purchase. In addition to the lunch, there will be items available for bid. Each of our middle and high school youth will be donating services or hand-crafted, homemade items for bid. There will also be vacation homes and other one-of-a-kind opportunities. All proceeds benefit the 2016 Youth Mission Trip to Wapato, Washington.

If you have an item for donation such as a vacation home, special service (i.e. you will prepare lunch for eight, you will babysit children, etc.), tickets to a sporting event or other new items, please contact Katherine Lambert at 704.517.2199 or katherinellambert@gmail.com.

Be sure to login to Trinity's website in advance of the auction in order to purchase items by credit or debit card. Should you have questions or need assistance with your login, contact Cheryl Jernigan at 704.366.3554.

Holy Week at Trinity

Palm Sunday

March 20

11:00 a.m.

This beautiful service celebrates Jesus's entry into Jerusalem as the people cry, "Hosannah! Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord!" Join Trinity's annual congregational procession from the Narthex to the Sanctuary as we wave palm branches and sing, "Hosannah!" to our Lord.

This year's Maundy Thursday service will embrace the centuries old tradition of the Tenebrae observance. Tenebrae, Latin for "shadows" or "darkness," will remind us of the trials and passion of our suffering Savior as he walks the lonesome valley in obedience to His mission of love and sacrifice on earth. Communion will be served at this reverent and intimate service as the Trinity congregation follows the mandatum or the commandment of our Lord to observe His table together.

John 19:17-18

Remembering the crucifixion of our Lord, Trinity gathers in a service of hymns, readings, scripture and music for meditation.

Join the Trinity choir, brass, organ and congregation as we raise our voices together in celebration of the risen Savior! On this high feast day we also observe communion, reminding us that we nourish our souls on the true living bread!

Room in the Inn

Room in the Inn season (RITI) is upon us and Trinity will once again open its doors and welcome 144 guests. The winter months are some of the hardest for Charlotte's homeless population. Through the help of many volunteers, we at Trinity are able to provide our guests three meals (dinner, breakfast, and a bag lunch), a hot shower, clean socks, hats, gloves, t-shirts and underwear, fellowship and a warm and safe place to rest for the night.

We have volunteer opportunities in the following areas: transportation, overnight hosts, breakfast, lunches, and laundry pick up and drop off. In addition to our usual volunteer opportunities, please contact Tricia Sistrunk if you or your family or group (youth group, girl scouts, choir, bible study...) would like to join us for dinner on RITI Wednesdays. This is a great opportunity to learn more about and help support this important ministry at Trinity.

Our remaining nights to host are: March 2, 16, and 30. Please consider your interests and contact one of the team leaders listed below:

“Blessing Bags”

On February 7, the K/1 Sunday School Class worked together to be friends of Jesus, doing the work of Jesus here in the world. They assembled “Blessing Bags,” bags that can be given to our friends in need of assistance, those looking for a meal or water, or simply someone to show them kindness. The students assembled additional bags which are available in the Mission and Outreach Nook between the Cloister and the Church Office. I encourage you to grab a bag and keep in your car so they might be given out when you see a friend asking for assistance.

Handing out one of these “Blessing Bags” is an act of kindness for our friends in need; it also may create an opportunity for conversation with your children. Should your children be in the car with you when you see someone in need, I encourage you to hand out the bag or even to let your child be the giver. My hope is that this might spark a conversation about homelessness or about people in need or about other ways we can be a good friend to Jesus and to our neighbors.

While this conversation is not necessarily easy, here are some things that may be helpful in talking about homelessness:

- Remind your children of the importance of smiling, showing love and kindness to those who may look different or even a little scary.
- Read Matthew 25 together when you go home, “for I was hungry and you gave me something to eat.”
- If your children are curious to learn more or eager to help, come to a Room in the Inn dinner (Wednesday nights through March, you can sign up on the church website) .
- Help us replenish the bags by dropping off more supplies (beef jerky, bottles of water, snack packs, hand sanitizer, etc).

Let us know how the “Blessing Bags” were used. We hope to continue to make them available for our congregation to give to our friends in need.

Many thanks for all you and your families do.
Reverend Grace Lindvall

In 2015 Friendship Gardens grew to a network of 97 gardens community wide. These 97 gardens contributed a total of 13,081 pounds of fresh produce last year to Friendship Trays (Charlotte's meal delivery service). As one of those affiliated gardens Trinity contributed a total of 519.65 pounds to Friendship Trays! This is an increase over our 2014 contribution of 362 pounds.

Since the average yearly donation per garden is 134.86 pounds, Trinity's produce is a significant portion of that donated to Friendship Trays. This year we hope to top our 2015 contribution and need your help. Planting for the spring garden will be held in late March. Watch the weekly email blasts and bulletin for details.

Growing, Playing and Learning together!

Our “Kids in Motion” Summer Camp will be in session June 7-9, 14-16, 21-23 and 28-30. Please mark your calendar!

Each week will have a theme packed with lots of fun activities for your child during his/her session from 9:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m., Tuesday - Thursday!

For more information call 704.366.3556 or email spalmer@trinitypreschurch.org or jbillings@trinitypreschurch.org!

We look forward to serving you and your family!
